Kara Jenkins, the head of the Nevada Equal Rights Commission, previously threw their hats in the race.

...

Jenkins’ campaign spokesperson Amanda Kennedy wrote: “This race will boil down to voters choosing from a roster of long time old guard politicians or a new fresh voice who embraces diversity and brings energy and new ideas to City Hall. Kara Jenkins is the fresh face ready to welcome the world to our city and roll out the red carpet for all who call Las Vegas home.”

Berkley could not immediately be reached for comment.
